One Last Chance?

The American people had opportunities, even as recently as over the past five years, to put a stop to the slide into collapse and turn to the hard work of recovery—as under Franklin Roosevelt beginning in 1933. In 2007, economist Lyndon LaRouche, who had long forecast the banking crisis which took hold then, drafted a Homeowners and Bank Protection Act which would have arrested the plunge. Despite wide support, Americans, your neighbors, allowed corrupt politicians like Rep. Barney Frank and Tim Geithner to kill it and launch the ruinous "bailouts."

The 2008 Democratic candidacy of Hillary Clinton was another chance, but Americans allowed British drug money and British-controlled media to make the City of London's puppet Barack Obama the Democratic candidate, and thus the President, despite the electorate's preference for Hillary.

Then, on April 11, 2009, LaRouche proved that President Obama was nothing but a carbon-copy of the Roman Emperor Nero; a worse and more dangerous despot than Adolf Hitler. Everything LaRouche said then has been verified in spades. Nevertheless, our people have allowed corrupt politicians to leave Obama in office through today, despite their knowing that he merits removal under the 25th Amendment, as demonstrably insane, as well as impeachment for crimes and violations of the Constitution.

Up through today, every opportunity to escape destruction has been ignored and lost. One may remain, but only one. If we fail now to force through the following three steps outlined by Lyndon LaRouche on New Year's Eve, we will have lost that too.

1) "GET THIS GUY BARACK OBAMA OUT OF OFFICE, NOW! Don't panic. The only chance you have is not to panic, but to do something constructive and useful, to bring about what's necessary, such as removing Obama from office.

"If he's out of office, if he's even being suspended, under the 25th Amendment, Section 4, which he should be, then the British Empire's intended war is off. Because without control of the thermonuclear and related weaponry of the United States, it would be impossible for the British Empire to pull off this war, whose main intended targets are Russia and China.

"Therefore, getting this guy out of the Presidency, even under suspension under the 25th Amendment—and/or impeachment for his numerous substantive violations of the U.S. Constitution— would mean an option for the survival of the United States and the people in it."

2) "GLASS-STEAGALL MUST GO THROUGH AS AN EMERGENCY DECISION. By applying a Glass-Steagall reorganization of the entire financial system, we're going to wipe out the bankrupt, speculative merchant banking system, because there's nothing in it that's worth anything! Glass-Steagall will wipe it and those banks out—except those banks which are separated out and protected, because they contain commercial banking content, as opposed to merchant banking content, which is going to be treated like a dangerous disease, an epidemic disease, like Black Death. And you're going to put that into sanitation, and nobody's going to come to collect it. They're not going save it. It's dead!

"This will save the structure of the system, by eliminating the unwanted speculative financial structures that are the poison. That means a reform of the currency, precisely with Franklin Roosevelt's 1933 version of Glass-

Steagall, no alterations! That will stop the hyperinflation.

"And the great danger is hyperinflation, because once the hyperinflation that's there is unleashed, you have no chance. You cannot save those banks! Don't even think about it."

3) "WE HAVE TO GO TO A NATIONAL BANKING SYSTEM, A THIRD NATIONAL BANK OF THE UNITED STATES. We have to deal with the fact that we don't have enough credit to meet the needs of the nation. You've got to do it Alexander Hamilton's way, and go back to the question of the original Federal Constitution, on this subject.

"Now, this bank will be the agency through which public credit is uttered. We will take projects like NAWAPA and other kinds of science-driver projects of that type along with other things that are necessary—including man's exploration and colonization of our galaxy, beginning with Mars. We will immediately launch these projects, we will employ people in these projects, we will reactivate manufacturing facilities and other facilities, in support of these projects. So therefore, we will create enough physical product, enough physical output in the nation, to go back toward full employment. And productive employment, not bullshit employment.

"Russia and China are potential allies of the United States in this operation. But they don't understand money systems very well, so the policy has to be put across. Europe is a somewhat different situation, because you can do that once you take the British out of the equation, which Europe is ripe to do right now, because the European system under British control, the euro system, is finished! It's dead.

"Here in the U.S. we're going to have to eliminate the Federal Reserve System, which is hopelessly bankrupt—it has nothing but bullshit in it; what was ever in it that was not bullshit, is completely outnumbered by the bullshit.

"Therefore, we're going to have to establish a National Bank, a Third National Bank of the United States, which will be the custodian of the credit which the Federal government authorizes to be uttered, which will be used immediately for projects. It will be used for emergency assistance as needed; but otherwise, the intention is, for productive projects' investments in large-scale systems, which will be done on the basis of public credit, utilizing the facility to replace the Federal Reserve System.

"We're going to save the United States that way."
